Ex-Member LIGA

H/Dr. Bashir Ahmed Malik is a full time practicing homoeopath in Lahore, Pakistan with over 37 year of focused academic and working field experience. Homoeopathy runs in the family. This is 3rd generation of homoeopaths. His son is a full homoeopathic practitioner. Dr. Malik has passion for homoeopathy. Dr. Malik is a Fellow of BFS, and ex-member of LIGA, Vienna, Austria. He was originally registered Homoeopathic practitioner with The National Council for Homoeopathy, Pakistan and is now registered and licensed by The Punjab Health Care Commission, Pakistan. He holds diploma in Homoeopathy and Biochemistry from Brantridge Forest School, UK.

In this Opus, Dr. Malik addresses the gap in homoeopathic literature and allay the objections of the critics of homoeopathy.

Review of “HOMOEOPATHIC HIGH DILUTIONS BRAIN CORTEX AND IMPEDANCE MATCHING”

It is an amazing and a thought provoking book where Dr. Malik has delved deep into scientific concepts and literature of chemical biology and biophysics to postulate how homoeopathic high dilutions could cure incurable states of his patients. He has very intelligently used the concept of impedance matching to explain the bioelectrical signals and natural voltage gradients that exists in living cells to explain quantum mechanics based approach he employs in homeopathy. Being a student of cell and molecular biology, I was intrigued by Dr. Malik's ideas about regulating the bioelectrical signals and consequent cell behavior using homeopathy medicines to cure different disease. Although it is quite provocative for many but it is certainly a way forward to carefully analyze and investigate why and how high dilutions of homeopathy medicines work in millions of patients around the globe. I certainly believe future of homeopathy lies in developing a strong scientific basis and a science based narrative and Dr. Malik has done an excellent job previously in his book Quantum Mechanics of Homeopathy and now in this beautiful book.

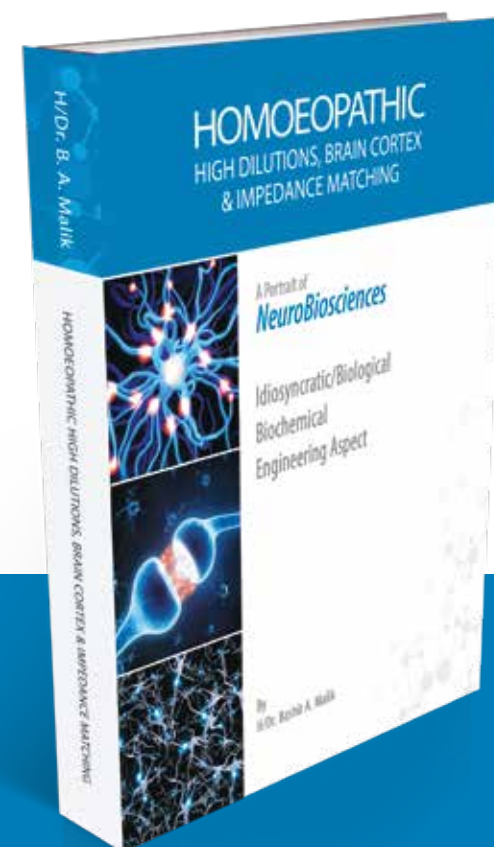

Sincerely,

Dr. Muhammad Tariq

A BOOK ON LONG DESIRED
EXPLANATIONS ABOUT SCIENCE-BASED HOMOEOPATHY

By H/Dr. Bashir A. Malik

TABLE OF CONTENTS

PRELUDE	1
1.0 – Introduction to the Series 10 and 11	8
AUTHOR'S SCIENTIFIC INTRODUCTORY DISCUSSION ON HOMOEOPATHY	14
1.1 – The Human Body, an Enclosed Dipolar Aqueous Entity (a self-contained, 100% fully automatic in a dynamic and atomic equilibrium environment), and Energy Transformational End Product (the Life – a Portrait):	19
1.2 – Essential Ingredients for Life	21
1.3 – Quantum Theory	22
1.4 – A Mechanistic View of Hydrogen Bonding	23
1.4.1 – Phosphate Group	23
1.4.2 – Sugar Group	24
1.4.3 – Nitrogen Base	25
1.4.4 – Hydrogen	25
1.5 – A brief view into makeup of the most common anti-allergic treatment (vaccine); pollen -dust (P+D):	31
1.6 – Immunology in Homoeopathy:	32
1.7 – Compatibility and Selective Affinity of Homoeopathic Medicinal Agents with Compositional Aspects of Various Functions within Human Body	35
1.8 – Author's Comment on Application of Planck's Constant	40
1.9 – Australian Homoeopathic Association (AHA) versus National Health and Medical Research Council (NHMRC)	42
PREFACE	52
2.1 – Homoeopathy – Idiosyncratic Aspect and Human Body	52
INTRODUCTION	58
3.1 – Illustrative Mechanistic View into Restoration of Resilience of Dynamic Equilibrium	58
THE ENERGY TRANSFORMATIONAL SCENARIO	65
4.1 – Pre-definitive Structural Ingredients	69
4.2 – Hydrogen Bonding in Water Molecule	76
4.3 – Neuron/Pre and Post-Synaptic Cell/Acetylcholine/Neural Slipper:	78
4.4 – Dendritic Crisscross (Section from Human Brain) Neural Slipper:	81
4.5 – Making of the Neural Plate	87
4.6 – Nucleotide Base Pair Structure of the Protein (Raman Spectroscopy and Hydrogen Base Pair)	90

TABLE OF CONTENTS

HUMAN BRAIN FUNCTIONS	98
5.1 – Mechanistic Insight of Dynamic Homeostasis Regulation	98
5.2 – Composition of Biogenic Molecule and Source of Energy in Human Body	98
5.3 – Biogenic Molecule	99
5.4 – Homoeopathic Medicine, Preparation and Source	100
5.5 – Mechanics of Transport of Homoeopathic Medicine, the Structural and Potential Amplitude Compatibility	105
5.6 – Mechanistic View into Accomplishment of Restoration of Dysfunction by Homoeopathic Remedy	107
5.7 – Nuclear Spin of Hydrogen:	108
5.8 – The Mechanics of Working of Homoeopathic Medicine: Illustrative characteristics of some homoeopathic medicines and their compatibility to activate cationic and anionic composition of phospholipid bilayer of the cell membrane:	112
5.9 – Dendritic Crisscross (Section from Human Brain)	113
5.10 – Mechanics of Initiation of Impedance Matching by Brain - Generated Command Impulse	118
Cured Case Histories	122
5.11 – Spondylocostal Dysostosis (KGC, UK) – Two Patients (Brother/Sister)	122
5.11.1 – Summary of Mechanics of Musculoskeletal Bioregenerative Engineering and Restoration of Genetic Anomalies with use of Homoeopathic Low, Medium and High Dilutions	135
5.12 – Prostate and Bladder Cancer	143
5.12.1 – Classical Biochemical Engineering Application and Mechanics of Restoration of Papillary Urothelial Carcinoma, the Methodology	148
5.12.2 – Hydrogen Molecule Entity	150
5.12.3 – Charges -Energies, Intracellular Signaling and Impedance (in view of Hydrogen Bonding in Water Molecule)	169
5.13 – Cirrhosis of Liver, Four Needle Biopsies	171
5.13.1 – Classical Biochemical Engineering Application and Mechanics of Restoration of Resilience to Root Out Malignancy	176
5.13.2 – Classical Biochemical Engineering Application from Idiosyncratic Point of View and Medicinal Hierarchy of the Related Organs (Liver and Spleen)	187
5.14 – Prostatic Adenocarcinoma	187
5.15 – Adenocarcinoma of the Gallbladder	187
5.15.1 – Author's Concept of Undersignificance of the Pathogenesis Syndrome, Cardiovascular Disease, and Neurological Dysfunction	187
5.16 – Tibial Osteomyelitis	187
5.17 – Orolingual Dysplasia	187
5.18 – Two-Vessel Disease	187
5.19 – Breast Cancer	187

TABLE OF CONTENTS

5.20 – Thalassemia
5.21 – Fibroid Uterus, Renal Cysts, Large Hemorrhoids, and Thyroid Lobule
5.22 – Global Atrophic Changes in the Brain
5.23 – Cirrhosis of Liver and Diabetes (March 31,1994)	261
5.23.1 – Classical Biochemical Engineering Application in Applied Version of Science-Based Homoeopathic Prescribing	271
5.23.2 – Characteristics of H ⁶⁺ and H ⁶⁻ Charge-Energies, Intracellular Signaling and Impedance (in view of Hydrogen Bonding in Water Molecule)	272
REVERSIBILITY OF DISEASE & GENETIC ANOMALIES	275
Irreversible, Surgical Cases, Cirrhosis of Liver, Diabetic Gangrenous Limbs, etc.	275
A Comparative analytical Scientifically Postulated Debate with Classical Homoeopathic Prescribing:	275
Embryonic Stage in Human Body	275
CURED CASE HISTORIES	284
6.1 – Amputation of Diabetic Gangrenous Toe Followed by Sepsis	284
6.2 – Self-Amputation of Diabetic Gangrenous Toes (Left Foot)	289
6.2.1 - Pictures of Gangrenous Toes	296
6.2.2 - Scientific Postulations of the Classical Biochemical and Bioregenerative Engineering Application through Analytical Summary of Applied Version of Science-Based Homoeopathy	303
6.3 – Non-Healing Ulcer, Amputated Right Midfoot	306
6.3.1 – Classical Biochemical Engineering Application:	313
6.3.2 – Characteristics of H ⁶⁺ and H ⁶⁻ Charge-Energies, Intracellular Signaling and Impedance (in view of Hydrogen Bonding in Water Molecule):	313
6.4 – Loss of Hearing	314
6.5 – Preauricular Sinus (Pinhole) with Violent Itching and Horribly Offensive Discharge	317
6.6 – Left Mammary Invasive Ductal Carcinoma (and Maggots)	324
6.7 – Brain Tumor	330
6.8 – Diabetes Mellitus	341
HAHNEMANN'S HOMOEOPATHY	359
FRAGMENTARY SUBATOMIC CONSTITUENTS AND CHEMICAL COMPOSITION OF HOMOEOPATHIC REMEDIES	364
